JACOB LAWRENCE GALLERY — CRITICAL ART WRITING GROUP

INTRODUCTION

This initiative is born out of the conviction that timely, robust, and well-researched art writing is integral to an arts ecosystem as well as in the ongoing effort to see our world anew. The monthly gatherings will be comprised of a presentation by a critic followed by a writing workshop to share work and gain feedback. Writers and artists will explore the intersection of theory and practice within contemporary cultural production as well as share resources. This group will also have the opportunity to publish reviews and short-form pieces in the journal of the Jacob Lawrence Gallery entitled Monday. The group and the journal seek to address a need within the Pacific Northwest art community for stronger dialogue and debate about the aesthetic production of our time. The Critical Art Writing Group is organized by Minh Nguyen (writer) and Emily Zimmerman (Director, Jacob Lawrence Gallery).

2017–2018 MEETINGS

Sunday, March 18, 1–3pm writer/scholar: Sonal Khullar More info about Khullar + RSVP

Sunday, February 18, 1–3pm writer/scholar: Natalie A. Martínez More info about Martínez

Sunday, January 21, 1–3pm writer/scholar: Johanna Gosse More info about Gosse

Sunday, December 10, 1–3pm writer/scholar: Kemi Adeyemi More info about Adeyemi

Sunday, November 19, 1-3pm writer/scholar: Stuart Lingo More info about Lingo

Sunday, October 15, 1–3pm writer/critic: Charles Tonderai Mudede
More info about Mudede